FROM THE PEN OF

HAYMAN

As I write this for the “Hayman Holler”, I can see all kinds of wildlife outside my picture window – all kinds of birds, squirrels, rabbits, chipmunks, crows, and just now a big red squirrel. He sure is pretty, and this is the first time he has come to the bird feeder. A mother woodpecker brings her baby in every day and feeds it. I sure enjoy watching them I also have humming birds on the front porch.

I hate it because we didn’t get to have the reunion last year, and hope I stay well this year – doing okay so far. I still drive my car down the road, but not as fast – that was not cute out of Lil and Lorna to tell on me. I didn’t set a good example for my grandchildren. If you have read last year’s paper, you know what I am talking about.

Last fall I went over to Don’s and Donna’s for a few days and got to see more of the great grandchildren. It was the first time I had seen John’s and Shari’s son, Nathaniel. He was already over a year old. Timothy Michael had just arrived home at Brian’s and Carole’s, so I got to see him I also went to church with Mark’s and Laura’s family, and enjoyed hearing Sandi, Wendy, and Russell sing in their choirs.

Quite a few new babies will be at the reunion this year, including some who did not get to come last year, Eddie and Kathy are expecting, but don’t know if they are the only ones. I am just thankful for the prayers answered for Steve’s and Darlene’s baby, Trace. Phyllis says he is doing real good. Surely God has been so good to our family.

“The American Queen” went up the river for the first time, and the river banks and Racine Locks and Dam were lined with people. They said you couldn’t find parking space in at the Dam I went with Leslie and the kids in on the river bank in front of her parents’ home. There were 25 people there to see it go by. It was expected to go back down the river around the 28th of June. They say the price of a round trip ticket from Cincinnati to Pittsburgh and back was about $2,000. Keith was on his boat at Point Pleasant, and got to see it up close. He is off the boat, and should be here for the reunion this year.

I haven’t done much traveling this year, but Lil and I still go shopping and eat out quite a bit.

It is sad to think of the family members that won’t be with us this year at the Stover and Hayman reunions in August. They are Lewis Ours, brother-in-law; Bill Robinson, nephew; Gwendolyn Robinson, wife of nephew Howard; Wally Stover, brother; Bill Alton, husband of niece Nelly Jack; and Jack Sargent, husband of niece Clara Mae. They will be missed by all.

Hope to see all of you at the reunion this year.

FAMILY

New Arrivals

Chris and Joyce have a new addition to their family. Amy Michelle was born May 16. She weighed in at 8 lb. and 3 oz. She was 20 1/2 inches long.

Mike and Terri had a boy on July 31, 1994, and named him Scott Michael Shipkowski. This is his first reunion, so his sister Emma can show him the ropes.

Brian and Carole had their frist boy on October 30, 1994. Timothy Michael Hayman weighed 8 lbs., 11 1/2 ozs., and was 20 1/2 inches long.

Steve and Darlene say this year has been different, a year of fun, fear and faith. It started with last summer's wonderful vacation in North Myrtle Beach at the Beach Cove Resort with an ocean front view – say no more. Darlene was expecting a new family member, but meanwhile the work front and home life rolled on. She was in her seventh month, approaching the holidays, when the company she worked for was bought by another, and the new one soon told her they didn't need a pregnant lady – thanks a lot. There are reasons for every path in life, and this was meant to be. Two days after Christmas, Darlene began losing amniotic fluid with two months left to go. Her local doctor sent her directly to Pittsburgh (Magee Womens Hospital), and on January 9, 1995 Trace Lewis Young arrived, five weeks early. He was transferred to Childrens Hospital, and went into surgery for a bowel obstruction. After reports of abnormalities and disease along with two months of life in Pittsburgh, Trace was released. This was a result of quality medical care, and by all means the power of prayer. Steve says no matter what or how the paths in life lead, it is God he wants to thank. Thanks for his family, for all the families, and for the Hayman Holler. In Jesus' name, many thanks.

Aaron Davis and his fiancée Sarah planned their wedding for July 8th, and have already made Mindy a proud grandmother of a beautiful baby girl. Allyson Lee Davis was born May 12th. That makes Phyllis a great grandmother, and Grandma Hayman a great great grandmother.

It's a Girl.

Jeff and Rim are the proud parents of a bouncing baby beagle, Samantha Boo, weighing in at 20 lbs. 4 oz.

Honeymoon

Jeff and Rim Barton were married on September 1, 1994. It was a beautiful outdoor wedding in Jeff s parents' backyard. Tara was the maid of honor, Terry gave the barefoot bride away, and Eddie was the best man. Jeff and Rim disappeared in the Amish Country for five days on their honeymoon. They thought it was beautiful country, and planned a return trip with Mike and Terri and kids to take a train ride through the country. They did it June 24th, and had a wonderful time. Emma liked waving to all the people at the railroad crossings.

Birthday Surprises

Phyllis thought she was attending a style show for grand daughter Ashley at the Athens Recreation Center, but was completely surprised. She said it couldn't be done, but she was even more surprised than she was for her 50th birthday, when she expected something but didn't get anything. All of her brothers and sisters and spouses, children and grandchildren, plus many of her nieces, nephews, other relatives, friends, and coworkers attended. It was well planned and put together, and after the shock wore off, she had a good time.

FAMILY

Kelsey celebrated her 4th birthday in June with an ice cream party. All the kiddies got to make their own sundaes and play "Pin the Cherry on the ice cream sundae". Kelsey is so shy it's hard to tell if she had a good time, but based on the amount of chocolate on her face, she did.

Lil and Rob had a birthday party for Kyle's and Michael's fifth birthday over Easter weekend. Kyle's cake was decorated with "The Lion King" and Michael's was decorated with "The Power Rangers". An Easter Egg hunt was included in the activities. They also went to Michael's home for his birthday party. He had a backyard carnival, with 22 little friends there! They also held a party at the campsite on Memorial Day weekend for Kelsey's fourth birthday. Her birthday theme was "Tweety Bird".

Sarah Young celebrated her fourth birthday on May 6th at home with her friends. Her favorite present was a Make-Up Beauty doll that she fixes up in the tub. She spends a lot of her time playing outside with her best friend Brittany. She was one of the flower girls in a wedding July 1st, and was very excited. She was dressed in a white and maroon lacy dress, and could hardly wait to wear it.

Jesse Young celebrated his eighth birthday with a party at Showbiz Pizza with his friends. He will be nine years old on August 1st.

Talent

In March, Ashley was selected to participate in a seven-part workshop with the Barbizon Modeling and Talent Agency for the Cleveland and Cincinnati branches at the Ohio University Inn in Athens. She will be competing in September for a chance to go to Florida for the National competition in '96.

Phyllis went with Gloria and Mindy to see Desiree the Dancer in a dance recital by the "Graceful Slipper Ballet Studio" at Marietta High School. Desiree did a ballet and tap number, and did wonderfully. At age three, her first year as a ballet dancer, Steve and Darlene were very proud of her. Phyllis said, "they were as graceful as puppies". Desiree was also in the semifinals of the "Wee Wonders" photograph contest.

Tara also took jazz dance lessons, and did a recital on June 9th. Nicole was in the same class with her, and they did a good job dancing to Michael Jackson's "Black and White."

Future Growth

Eddie and Kathy are expecting the first addition to their family in September. You can bet that their child will be flying a kite by his or her first birthday. Terry and Melanie are also expecting an addition to their family.

Hayman Annexes

The Hayman Family includes several step relatives through Ted and Sallie and Rich and Linda. Some we know well, and others we do not. Sallie's family was still at home when Ted and Sallie were married sixteen years ago next Friday, July 21st. They have Chris, Joyce, Alexandra, and Amy; Terry, Melanie, Nicole, and Mallory; Pete and Lisa; and, Shawn. However, Rich's family was married and gone, except for Heidi, when Rich and Linda were married seven years ago this coming October 7th. They have Joey and his wife Kelly who live in Westerville, Denney and his wife Carol who live in Gallipolis, Rodney and his wife Tonya who live in Point Pleasant, and Heidi who still lives at home. A second son, Robby Jay, died when he was 2 1/2 months old. Carol has one more year of college to become a Registered Nurse, and Rodney has his own logging business. The Gleason grandchildren are Miranda, Tyler, Denny Lee, Mary Catherine, Bobbie Jo, Chelsea, and Jacob.

CHURCH

Youth Rally

Rob and Lil attend the First Baptist Church of Racine. Lil is a deaconess, which gave her an opportunity to be a part of a wonderful experience last October. Their church hosted a three day youth rally, headed up by their youth minister and four students from "Bob Jones University". They had approximately 100 teens each evening from Ohio and West Virginia for games, food, and powerful messages about Christ our Lord. Lil's job was helping out with the food. She felt it was a very rewarding experience to see the joy and excitement that these teens showed, but most of all there were seventeen that gave their life to Christ! Lil said 'It's so rewarding at our age to see young people so excited and so bold about their love and dedication to the Lord. We older ones can learn a lesson from them'!

Baptism

Jesse Young was baptized on Sunday, May 21st, 1995. He asked Ken and Becky if he could, and they said yes. They were very happy about it. Even Sarah enjoys going to Sunday School and learning her memory verses.

V.B.S.

Brice and Marcie's summer started out with Vacation Bible School. Kyle and Kelsey were in the same class with Marcie as co-teacher. Since the church had no air conditioning, it was hot and sticky but everyone had fun. They're still singing their new songs, over and over and over...

Music

Ken Young teaches the teens at church, and sings in the choir. Becky helps Ken teach the teens, and helps take care of the Nursery. She recently started taking piano lessons, and considers it a challenge.

Sandi, Wendy, and Russell sing in their church choirs. Sandi sang a solo and a duet last Christmas, and Wendy was the Narrator who opened the show. All of their grandparents usually attend their special events, and even their great grandma Hayman got to hear them once.

Tara Huber has a beautiful voice, and she and Terry both sing at their Grandma Bissell's church whenever they go down there camping at the river. Kim says they sound so good together - does she sound like a proud mama? Will they sing for us?

Rich and Linda changed churches, and now attend Jordan Baptist where she is a full time organist. They love southern gospel music. On New Years Eve, they attended a gospel sing at Point Pleasant High School. They were called up on stage and presented with a plaque that read "Southern Gospel Music Fan of the Year Award for 1994". They, plus Phyllis and her friend Ethyl, and Bobby and Carolyn Grimm attended a three day Southern Gospel Sing at the Music Park in Summersville, WV from the 6th to 8th of July. They were blessed and had fun together in the Lord, and Linda prayed that God would give them a safe journey.

Church Camp

by Tara Huber

Last year in June, I went to church camp for one week. I had a lot of fun eating, sleeping, swimming, and mostly learning about the Lord. Everybody says I seemed different when I got back. Probably because I fell off of the top bunk. I think I got some sense knocked into me. I am going to church camp again this year in August. I am going with a group of kids I've never met before, but my mom says that it won't take me long to meet new friends. It probably won't. Well, I will see everybody at the reunion this year. C-ya.

LEISURE & HOBBIES

Hayman Walk

Mom Lil, and Phyllis did the "Annual Hayman Walk" the last Saturday in March. Traditionally, this began at "The Little White House Gut on the Hill" in Apple Grove and proceeded up and over the First Hill, over the Paul Hill to the cave, past Mill Rocks on Johns Run, and on to East Le-tart at the bottom of the Roy Pearson Hill. In recent years, overgrowth (brush and hikers) forced the walk to be shortened by beginning at the Johns Run Creek bridge at the bottom of Eli Hill. Time continued to take its toll on the participants, and now the hike is from the parking lot to the dining room tables at Crows Restaurant in Pomeroy.

Shopping

Phyllis spends a lot of time working now, but is looking forward to retirement in four to five years "so I can do something". She likes to go on shopping excursions with Lil. One of the latest was to the Jeffersonville Mall at Washington Court House.

County Fair

This summer, Kayla was in the 4H point show at the Logan Fair Grounds. She got 43 points all together, and got four 1st places with blue ribbons; three were Westerns and one was English. She also participated in the Logan Fairgrounds Rodeo.

Flying Circus

Eddie is still a member of "Captain Eddie's Flying Circus". With the expected arrival of a little one he has been trying to remove himself from the team but it seems he is so good they do not want to let him go. He spent the July 4th weekend with the team at a show in Chicago.

B.P.O.E.

Mark Sebring was initiated into a Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks Lodge in September, and installed as an officer in April. Gloria was initiated into the Elks Emblem Club in October, and installed as an officer in May. Mark is very active in the Elks Club, and this past Christmas he helped distribute 100 baskets of food to needy homes. Building homes keeps him very busy, but he hopes someday to build Gloria and himself a new one. He does get to rest once in a while, playing in a golf league.

Sylph

Derrick plays in a band called "Sylph", playing an alternative style of music that is all original, meaning they write their own music.

Hunting

Last November, Jeff took his first deer, a doe. Ask him about it if you have several hours to spare. He loves to talk about it.

Magic

Steve and Darlene brought Trace home in March, and felt the show must go on with 'Benjamin the Magician' and "Desiree the Dancer". Yes, Benjamin the Magician! One would be impressed with this beginner. His involvement in this line of entertainment prompted a trip to Canton, Ohio for a magician's convention where he got ideas and tips from some of the finest in the world of magic. Steve took him and Desiree, and to pass time, took Desiree to the William McKinley National Memorial and Museum and to the Professional Football Hall of Fame. They had a great time!

Collecting

Lil likes to collect Roy Rogers items when she can afford them. She added a few items this year. For Christmas, Jonathan and Michael gave her a replica of a small Roy and Dale lunch box, and inside was a fossil, Roy and Dale wrist watch, and bolo. Kyle and Kelsey gave her a little golden book printed in 1954. She also purchased some things: a plate, saucer, and bowl; a lunch box; and, a 1943 Life magazine with Roy and Trigger on the front cover. She says the original price was 10 cents, but she sure didn't get it for that!

LEISURE & HOBBIES

Lil also collects mugs. Bruce has done a bit of traveling this past year, and he has brought her mugs from several states. Zac went to New York, and brought her one of the Empire State Building. Olivia was in Europe with her college chorus group, and brought her one from Germany. Mom also brought her one from Niagara Falls last year, so 1994-1995 has been a good year for her mug collection. Right now she is trying to come up with an idea on how to display all of them

– yes, believe it or not, Keith does like vegetable soup juice. They are planning a dessert and ice cream supper in the near future, and another bean dinner with fireworks over the 4th of July. Lil said ‘more than one kind of fireworks will be going on there’.

(What 's that supposed to mean?)

refueling, chassis adjustments, wrecks, replays, body damage repairs, garage setups, camera angles, blimp shots, you name it. Both have even bought steering wheel and gear shift consoles plus foot-operated gas and brake pedals for the ultimate racing experience. You know what they say, “the only difference between men and boys is the price of their toys”.

Camping

Rob and Lil have their camper set up on the Ohio River again this summer. So far this year they have had two bean suppers and one vegetable soup supper, one birthday party for Kelsey, several cookouts and hot dog roasts, and four overnight stays, with as many as 23 in attendance at one time. One evening during the vegetable soup supper, about 10 o'clock, a boat was approaching the campsite and kept its spotlight on them. It blew its whistle several times, and someone was whistling at them. Of course, they were all on the bank waving, and soon discovered that it was brother Keith. They wished he could have joined them for soup

NASCAR

Jonathan, Don, and Brian share an interest in auto racing. They not only go to the races but also root for the same driver, the soon to be eighth time Winston Cup champion, Dale Earnhardt who drives the #3 Goodwrench Chevrolet Monte Carlo. Jonathan goes with his Grandpa Bell to Charlotte, NC in May for the Coca Cola 600. Don and Brian go to Dover, DE in September for the Delaware 500.

Don and Brian also have NASCAR and INDY CAR Racing software on their home computers. Talk about realism! These games have all the views, sounds, and actions that occur at the tracks – practice, qualifying, racing, pit stops, tire changes,

CAREERS

What Time Is It?

"Psst! Hey buddy, wanna buy a watch? You say you have $5, $10, $20, or a $100 or more (thousand that is) laying around you don't know what to do With?" Well, Brian Hayman is part owner of a company that will order you just the watch or clock you have always wanted. "You want a battery powered one you say? Bite your tongue!" These are the finest mechanical masterpieces money can buy. Heaven forbid, but if one should ever need warranty work, you just might be able to accompany it to Switzerland, free of charge. He is now busy setting up a mail order business that includes jewelry.

Awards

In November, Gloria Sebring got an Outstanding Employee Award for her work with the Athens County Department of Human Services. In February, she participated in a Red Cross Blood Drive, and in April completed a Red Cross Disaster Training Program where she works.

Mark and Beth Casto are doing well this year. Mark was in the Gahanna paper for the excellent work he does as an automobile body technician. Beth is working as a customer service representative at Best Courier, and enjoys her job very much.

Incidentally, she also just bought herself a 1986 Nissan 200SX "sporty car".

Barbara Jewell, who works for Eddie Bauer, was recently promoted to leader in her area.

JOBS

The Bruce Hart family is making a big change. After many years at Ohio State, Bruce is moving to Indiana. We wish him, as well as his family, the utmost success in this new venture.

Eddie Hayman changed jobs last month, and now works for Honda of America at their East Liberty plant near Marysville. He will be working the evening shift from 4:00 p.m. until 1:00 a.m. for the rest of his life (or so it seems).

* * *

Chris Perry just returned from a two week training seminar at Northern Telecom in Dallas, TX. He really missed being away from all the family, especially that new little one.

* * *

John Wilson decided to return to school for another degree, this one in Computer Science. This led to a career change where he went from ITS1 to IBM as a co-op working with large mainframe computers.

* * *

Linda is working again at Francis Florist in Pomeroy. Rich is working part-time at Kroger for the summer until his school bus route starts again when school begins. Heidi now has her drivers license, and a summer job at Twin River Foodland looks promising as soon as she completes a week of training. She is thinking about moving to Columbus, after she graduates, and living with her brother Joey and his wife Kelly while she goes to Beautician School. Anyone need a perm?

dump truck. He says, "I am not interested in working for someone else and paying for their truck. If I am going to pay for someone's truck, it is going to be mine".

CAREERS

Bob Jewell was recently hired at Kaiser Aluminum. Annie still works for D & W Mobile Homes as a secretary and receptionist. They gave her an added position as Interior Decorator in the Mobile Homes the company owns in Jackson, Ohio and in Point Pleasant and Ripley, WV

Beverly is working at Sno-Biz for the summer, and Alan is busy at Kroger, as always. Olivia is also busy working at Kroger for the summer. Zac, an up and coming radio personality, has been working the Morning Show at Radio Station WMOV in Ravenswood, WV. He was one of the personalities that did a live broadcast from Creekside Country Store's first anniversary celebration on June 10th. It was promoted in Ravenswood's Jackson Star News.

This has been a busy year for Aaron Davis. He enlisted in the U.S. Army in March 1994, and served his basic training at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. He was chosen an 'Honor Graduate' and was presented the Army Certificate of Achievement by his battalion commander, Lt. Col. Zacherye. He then left for Fort Sam Houston, Texas where he was trained to be a Dental Specialist/X-Ray Technician. He is now working at a Dental Clinic at Fort McPhearson in Atlanta, Georgia.

TRAVEL

Nashville Trip

by Ted Hayman

Sallie and I went to Nashville, TN the weekend of June 16th to attend a convention through work. There were 14 of us, including spouses, and we all went on a chartered bus.

We left Friday evening, stayed in Louisville, KY., and made the rest of the trip to Nashville Saturday morning. We stayed at the Opryland Hotel, and the only thing we had to pay for was our own food.

After checking in and registering for the convention, we had the evening free to do whatever we wanted. After a wonderful meal at the Hotel, Sallie went to the Grand Ole Opry.

Sallie's friend, Rose, has a son, Tony, who is trying to break into the singing business. He lives in Nashville, and has a few connections. Tony called someone he knows and we were put on the list as guests of Grandpa Jones to visit the backstage of the Opry. It did not cost anything to get in, and we were right on the stage with the stars and other visitors who were backstage.

We saw Porter Wagoner, The Whites, Billy Dean, Charlie Walker, Hank Locklin, and Hank

Snow. I could not get over how relaxed and easygoing everyone was on stage. While someone was on stage singing, people on the sides and behind them would be talking and laughing like nothing was going on. It is something I will never forget.

On Sunday, I attended the convention show, and Tony took Sallie and three of the other wives shopping. On Sunday evening, we were free to do whatever again, so Tony picked up us and another couple and took us to dinner where he works. After that he took us to see the Bluebird Cafe, Tootsie's Orchid Lounge, and other places of interest.

On Monday, I had to attend more of the convention until about 2:00 pm. At that time we boarded our bus and headed for home. We arrived home at 10:50 pm., tired but happy.

Beaches

Chris, Joyce, Alex, Mel, going there since she was a kid. Terry, Tara, Terry, Nicole, and Mallory went together on vacation last August to Pensacola Beach, FL. They had a great time and are going again this year.

Don and Donna spent a week in June at Ocean City, NJ where they ate, walked the boardwalk, rode bicycles, shopped, and lounged on the beach.

The following week, Brian, Carole, Sarah, and Tim went to Cape May, NJ with Carole's Dad, Mom and sister. They took the ferry boat across the Delaware Bay. When Sarah found out they were going on the boat, she said 'No Dad, van not go on boat, van keep wheels on road'.

Kennywood Park

Brice and Marcie took Kyle and Kelsey to "Kennywood Park" in Pittsburgh for the first time last summer, and spent the day in Kid-die Land. It was a day filled with nostalgia since Marcie has been there when she was a little girl because this amusement park has been around since 1898. Everyone had a good time!

TRAVEL

Maryland Visits

by Lil Hart

I joined Lorna in Dublin in February and traveled to Maryland where I stayed with Brice and Marcie and the kids while Lorna and Michael went on to Alexandria, VA to join Bruce who was working there that week. Jonathan was in Williamsburg, VA on his school class trip. Brice took me to Don's and Donna's one evening for a visit. Their families came over and we all got to visit. I got to see Timothy for the first time. He is adorable! And so is Nate – walking everywhere! I also got to see Don's and Donna's Christmas Dickens Village. It really is beautiful

Next day we took the kids to Washington Children's Museum Lots of nice things there. We really enjoyed it.

Mom, Beverly, and I also made a trip over to Maryland last fall. Mom spent her time at Don's and Donna's. Brice, Beverly, and I went into Baltimore to see Ralph Waite in the play "Dirt". I'll have to admit that I like him better as John Walton.

Disney World

Mark Hayman had to go to Florida last July on a business trip for a full week. He was able to mix business with pleasure, so Laura, Sandi, Wendy, and Russell went with him They were able to spend quite a bit of time at Disney World.

Vacations

As usual, Brice and Marcie took a two week vacation to celebrate Christmas. They spent time in PA, then in OH and made it back home just in time to go cut down a tree and visit Santa.

Brice and Marcie took Kyle to see the dinosaur bones at the Smithsonian. They are not sure which excited him more, the dinosaurs or the train (Metro) ride into the city. Kelsey went too, even though she's not that crazy about dinosaurs.

Brice and Marcie's goals for this summer are to take the kids to see the ocean, go camping, go to a real drive-in movie (with the kids, 'you perverts), visit Carnegie Museum, and see Pocahontas, which Kyle says "Is playing in theaters everywhere".

Skyline Drive

Don & Donna usually make two or three treks each year to Virginian's Skyline Drive for a mountaintop camping experience. They went in June, and are going again in August. They will not "Trough it" when they go up in October during the changing of the leaves (foliage time). They have reserved one of the rustic rooms at the Big Meadows Lodge, overlooking the Shenandoah Valley, for three days.

Evel Knievel

Tara and Terry have been doing lots of swimming and bicycling, enjoying their summer vacation. Daredevil Terry took a dare from his Dad at Sharon Woods Park, and rode his bike off the dock and into the lake.

Anniversary

Mark and Beth plan to celebrate their wedding anniversary next Saturday, the 22nd, with a trip to "Old Man's Cave" for the day.

HOMES

Ken and Becky Young bought a home, and have been remodeling it. They are doing a little here and a little there, and hope to have it finished one of these days. (Is a home ever finished?)

Pete and Lisa were very busy all last summer of 1994 while building their new home. They started from below ground and worked their way up, day in and day out. Pete grew out of his fear of heights real quick, and Lisa became leery of them after she stepped off the scaffolding and fractured her elbow (Pete thinks she only did it to make him do more work!). Other than that incident, and the fact that it seemed Delaware County tried to stop them in any way possible from building the house, they finally made it and moved in February 4th. The house sits on two acres of land, is 2700 sq. ft., and has a two car garage. They are finishing the three bedrooms and bath upstairs, along with fighting the weather for the grass to grow. They still have plenty of work to do, but are looking forward to the 1995 reunion and camping. They also have some pictures that were taken since the last reunion.

Mark and Beth are also planning to move into a house this summer, hopefully by the end of August. They are looking forward not only to moving but also to mowing the grass in their own home.

Have Wheels Will Travel

Remember that old saying you read in the "Hayman Holler" a couple of years ago — "Have wheels will travel"? Well, Rich and Linda moved their mobile home again. They live back in town at the Burdette Addition.

Phyllis sold her home in Middleport, bought a new mobile home, and moved to a Mobile Home Park between Darwin and Burlingham. She said it was a real challenge fitting two floors of furniture into a mobile home. She had to make some tough choices among her furnishings.

SCHOOL

Cory Seymour graduated from Meigs High School this year. He is enrolled at Hocking College this fall, majoring in Police Science. He is also very much interested in going into the military, and is considering enlisting in the U.S. Navy. Who knows? Maybe this time next year, Mindy will have two of her three sons in the service.

Ashley was selected as first runner-up for Athens High School Prom Queen. She was also on the Honor Roll for the last two nine-week periods. She will be a senior this fall attending Hocking College, and has already been taking classes there.

This spring, Derrick started classes for a degree in Culinary Arts, to add to his Business Degree. He also made the Deans List this quarter.

Jordan starts High School this fall. He was on the Student Council in Junior High School, took a class trip to Washington, D.C., and received a paid trip to Kings Island (Gloria got to chauf-feur eight of them to Kings Island). Jordan has also done two concerts as a member of the percussion section of the concert band at school.

Justin Seymour, Mindy's youngest pup, will be going into his sophomore year of high school. Mindy is looking forward to another three years of ball games. As for Mindy herself she says she doesn't know what she has been doing the past year, but "it's been real."

My how time flies! Keri Wilson began Romper Kollege last fall and graduated this spring. Kyle Hart attended preschool in January and graduated in May. Both had a great time and can't wait for Kindergarten! Some others that will begin Kindergarten will be Michael and Nicole. Sarah Hayman will be going to Nursery School, and Sandi Hayman will start Middle School.

Olivia received Honorable Mention on the Deans List at Alderson-Broadus College for the spring quarter. She traveled to Switzerland, Germany, and Austria with the college concert choir. They toured and performed from May 10th to May 24th. She especially enjoyed seeing the Alps and singing at the Nonberg Abbey in Salzburg where some scenes from "The Sound of Music" were filmed.

On March 6, Rob and Lil saw Olivia's choir perform at a Baptist Church in Vienna, WV. Lil said their music was absolutely breath taking. Among their selections were songs from composers Rachelbel, Mozart, Thompson, Raminsh, and Honegger. They also sang three Spanish Christmas carols of the sixteenth century, some American folk songs, some Afro-American spirituals, and some German folk songs. Lil said, "We sat through the entire performance with glory bumps. It was beautiful!"

Zac Cunningham had a busy year at school, and remained on the Honor Roll. He traveled to New York in November with several other students and a teacher. They saw two Broadway musicals and other attractions. They were also spotted on the street at the "Today Show". Zac also traveled to Chicago and Disney World with the chorus. Zac said the Florida trip was the best ever — despite a leaky bus, several flat tires, and a twenty-seven hour trip.

Tara Huber sang in her 7th grade choir. In March, she had a solo part in a song from The Lion King, "Circle of Life." She was also in an ensemble of seven girls. They went to the State Finals and scored a #1, Superior.

SPORTS

Spectator

Phyllis is a sport spectator, and attended several football games at Meigs High School to see Cory and Justin play. She went to Jackson to see Jordan play soccer, and thinks it is a wild game that is more dangerous than football. She also attended a "Grandparents Night and Cook-out" in Parkersburg to see Jesse play baseball. What a night – he hit four home runs.

Mark and Beth just might become great sports spectators since they won tickets to a Columbus Clippers baseball game. They had never attended one and looked forward to an enjoyable outing.

Gymnastics

Alex has been attending a Kinderdance gymnastics class at school one day a week. The class had not been meeting during June, and she was excited to have it start up again in July.

Triathlon?

Jordan played soccer last fall, and also played on an indoor traveling team through the winter and spring. He is on the track team and has done great in pole vaulting, the high jump, and the 4 by 100 relay. He also will be playing soccer on the Junior Varsity team in High School. He is now playing baseball in the Athens County Little League, where Gloria serves as a member of the board. He is a left-handed pitcher who was selected for the All Star Team three years.

Softball

Sandi and Wendy played softball again this year. Sandi is a catcher and Wendy is a second baseman. Word has it that Wendy is too fast to ever get thrown out at first base. Russell is looking forward to next year when he can start T-Ball.

Baseball

Curtis Jewell is playing little league baseball, and was recently participating in tournament play. Ask him if they were the champs! Even Barb was playing softball in two different leagues. In one league, the WYAA, she was even headed into championship play.

Jesse Young plays baseball and is doing great. His batting average is .917 (wow! where are the majors scouts?) with 27 home runs. Last year was his first year, and he was picked for the "B" All Star Team. This year he was chosen for the "A" All Star Team. He was very glad to hear the news because he loves playing baseball.

Ken Young has been the coach of Jesse's regular season team, and coached the All Star Team. He enjoys doing this very much. He spends most of his spare time coaching and playing softball.

THE JOURNEY

by
Ted Hayman

The date is Friday, March 31, 1995. My journey is taking me from Mom's house back to Columbus. It is a trip filled with much emotion. It is almost as though I am traveling from the past to the present. I am supposed to be working, but work is not on my mind. Not much work will be done today. Today will be the funeral for Uncle Wally Stover.

My journey started yesterday afternoon when I came to Mom's to visit the funeral home. Mom and I went to Wendys in Ravenswood for dinner. Mom was having a hard time with the passing of her only surviving brother. She and Uncle Wally were closer than her older brothers. She said this left only Aunt Hazel, Aunt Pete, and her. She wondered which would be the next to go. Our conversation centered on family.

From there, we traveled to Evans, WV to the Evans Funeral Home. Rob, Lil, and Phyllis were traveling together, and Linda and Rich would be along later. When Mom and I arrived, we were slow getting out of the car, reluctant to go in, but knowing we must.

Seeing Aunt Lizzy, Leonard, Altie, Belva, Irene, Alvin, and their families was both sorrow and joy; sorrow at meeting under the circumstances of losing a loved one, but joy at being together and visiting as a family. Our conversations were of kids, grandkids, Uncle Wally, and all the good times we had growing up. There were many good memories of rabbit hunts, sledding, and songs Uncle Wally sang for us that we still remember. Belva said her Dad had told her that he had made his peace with Jesus. This gave joy, even in the midst of sorrow.

This morning, Mom and I had breakfast together. We talked of family, both past and present. We both were reluctant to end our visit. I did not want to go to work, and Mom did not want me to leave. If only I could have stayed, gone to the funeral, and been with everyone.

My first stop was in Pomeroy to check in with Sallie and the office. From there I went to the Pomeroy parking lot to do some paperwork. Most of my time was spent just looking at the river and remembering times past. Finally, I moved on down the river, making two phone calls in a half-hearted attempt at setting appointments. I was relieved at no success.

I turned the radio to WMPO, only to find Uncle Dan Hayman on with his afternoon "Gospel Hymn Time". After a short time, he played an old portion of a show from 1962 that featured Sid and Carol Hayman singing "The Family Bible". This only added to my emotions and state of mind. Memories continued of Dad and his family.

As I near Chillicothe, seeing the smoke stacks of Mead Paper brings me to the present. I am supposed to make a stop here. The radio is growing faint with interference from other stations. I don't want to turn it off, as though it is a link with the past. Part of the last song I can hear is "I hope we walk the last miles together".

I realize that I have family both behind me, and ahead of me. I think of Uncle Wally's family, and we are together. I may not be there, but I am with them. The greatest treasure on this earth is our family. Together we can face anything.

When it is time for me to walk that last mile of life's journey, I know it will be a time of both sorrow and joy. I know that I will have family both behind me, and ahead of me. The greatest joy will be mine, for I will see my Jesus. He makes the journey worth traveling.

NEWS ALONG THE OHIO RIVER

by
Linda Gleason

Rich and I were privileged during the last week of June to see the world's largest stern-wheeler "The American Queen". She is a $65 million steam boat with large promenade decks, a grand dining room, and Victorian-era salons. The ornately decorated 418 foot steamer is cruising the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. This was her inaugural passenger trip, a 16-day recreation of the first steamboat journey to New Orleans in 1811. She arrives there on July 13th. She carries 400 passengers and 150 crew members. One man said he purchased the first ticket sold two years ago. One newspaper article said the full trip was $9,000.

No one in our area realized she was on her way up the river heading towards Pittsburgh, and would pass our little historic town of Pomeroy, until a TV new station announced that "The American Queen" was stuck in the mud on a sandbar down in Kentucky, while carrying travel agents, writers, and VIPs to Pittsburgh.

Probably no one in our family, except maybe a few, know the thrill I get when any stern-wheeler goes up or down this river of my childhood. I have lived here all of my life. When a stern-wheeler rounds the bend and I see the big paddle wheel turn and hear the calliope play, there is an excitement I just cannot explain. The calliope is a musical instrument with a series of steam whistles, played like an organ. You can hear it for miles up and down the river. (I felt as if I needed to explain that for the younger generation).

Carolyn, who used to sing in a gospel group with me, and who has been a very good friend for many years, ran up and down both sides of the Ohio river with me until midnight one evening trying to track down a stern-wheeler while her husband was working evening shift. We call one another if we even catch a glimpse of one, or hear that one is on its way.

Now, for more on "The American Queen". Thousands of people lined the river shores of Point Pleasant, Pomeroy, and the Racine Locks and Dam to see her. When Rich and I were crossing the Pomeroy bridge in our car, she was almost ready to go under the bridge. Several people had even walked out on the bridge for a better view. That's when I wanted Rich to stop the car and let me out. I was keyed up so high with excitement that he said he was afraid to stop because he figured I was too excited and just might decide to jump down on it! Ha! Not a bad idea! We journeyed on to the West Virginia side and watched from the Mason Levy as it passed through Pomeroy. I choked up with a lump in my throat and tears in my eyes as I watched her pass by and imagined myself taking a trip on her.

We then journeyed on up the river to watch her lock through the Racine Locks and Dam. We watched as a Dixieland style band in full costumes played music out on her front deck. Our West Virginia governor and his wife were even on board. As she began to move out of the locks, the old steam calliope began to play many of the old familiar tunes I have known since childhood. As I stood and watched her disappear up around the bend towards my birth place of Apple Grove, watched the large paddle churn the water, and listened to the music fade away in the distance, I wondered if I would ever see her again and if I would someday get to take a trip on her. As one of the passengers stated, "It's a slice of America you can't get anywhere else."
